Congratulations To the Festival Committee:

OFFICE OF THE MINISTER

The Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival has attracted much international attention in recent years. It has been filmed by newsreel companies, its story has appeared in magazines throughout Canada and in the United States, and its outstanding events broadcast over radio from coast to coast. All this has played an important part in publicizing and advertising both the resources and the distinctive character of Northern Manitoba to the people of this continent.

This annual event in Northern Manitoba has undoubtedly played a very distinct part in increasing the tourist influx into our province during these past two years.

It gives me the greatest pleasure to congratulate the Festival Committee and all the other workers on their outstanding job of work -- and also to express the hope that the Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival will go forward to even greater successes in the coming years.

Welcome Trappers & Visitors

MUNICIPAL OFFICES
THE PAS, MANITOBA
CANADA

It is a pleasure on behalf of the Citizens of The Pas to again extend to the Trappers and Visitors a sincere and happy welcome to this the Third Annual Trappers' Festival.

Some of those who were here last year will be missing, among whom will be Albert Sinclair of Norway House who last summer took the trail to that Bourne from where no traveller returns. He will long be remembered as a true Northerner and an outstanding representative of his race.

During the short period that the Festival has been in existence it has become one of the main winter Events of Canada and commands attention far beyond our borders. This years Festival promises to be bigger and better than ever, due to the untiring efforts of those Citizens who have generously and unstintedly given their time towards making it a success - Our grateful thanks and appreciation are extended to them.

In the midst of the festivities let us give a thought to those hardy souls and good losers, the mushers who after the long and arduous race of 145 miles to Cranberry Portage and Return, do not receive the acclaim and reward of the winners. Three Cheers and a tiger for them and may their turn come at some future Festival.

My Friends,

It is a very great pleasure for me to extend a hearty welcome to all of you attending the Third Annual Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival. I trust that you will thoroughly enjoy every minute of your time here.

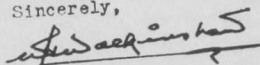

For more than five months the Committees have been making their plans and preparations for the Festival and the success of their efforts will be measured very largely by how well you enjoy yourselves. Please join in all the events and have a good time.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the people of the Northern Towns for sponsoring candidates in the Queen Contest and for supporting their candidates so enthusiastically. We greatly appreciate the wonderful assistance given us by the numerous business firms throughout Canada who have been kind enough to sponsor the various events on our programme and to place advertisements in this Booklet. Thank you very much.

I also wish to take this opportunity to thank the Chairmen and the members of their committees for the splendid manner in which they have carried out their many duties and especially the members of the Co-ordinating Committee who have given so much of their time.

Good luck and best wishes to each and every one of you.

Sincerely,

W.H. Walkinshaw,
General Chairman.

February 1st - 2nd - 3rd - 4th, 1950

THE 1949 TRAPPERS' FESTIVAL

The 140-mile Canadian Championship Dog Race from The Pas to Cranberry Portage and return, and the crowning of the Fur Queen of the North were the two outstanding features of the Second Annual Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival, held at The Pas from January 19th to 22nd, 1949.

After driving his powerful team over the course in 40 below zero weather, Mr. Edwin Lambert of The Pas won the coveted $1,000 prize and the magnificent Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting trophy by leading a field of 19 teams. He is shown being congratulated by Fur Queen Edwardine Poitras and her Princesses.

A colourful torchlight parade to the imposing Ice Palace on the banks of the Saskatchewan River marked the beginning of the Festival which was officially opened by His Worship, Mayor H. F. Bickle.

Trappers and woodsmen had plenty of opportunity to prove their skill as they participated in the various competitions of log-lifting, log-sawing, fishing through the ice, snowshoe races, and other winter sports. The Indians exhibited samples of their beaded leather work and showed the white people how teepees are built.

Many visitors from north and south crowded into The Pas to witness the exciting events of this popular festival. They came by plane, by train, and along the trail, and about one hundred residents of Flin Flon came in the "Flonovan Motorcade" of 24 automobiles and brought along a 14-foot model of the H. B. M. & S. headframe.

Agricultural areas have their Fall Fairs and Ploughing Matches, lumber towns have their Timber Festivals, industrial communities their Industrial Fairs and Exhibitions. It is most appropriate for The Pas to stage the Trappers' Festival because trapping is one of the great industries of this north country. This Festival affords an opportunity for residents and visitors to have a good time of relaxation and sport together. Such an occasion is good for any community. Long may the Trappers' Festival continue.

MANITOBA'S

IMPORTANT NORTH

Manufacturing and agriculture combine in Manitoba to give Manitobans Canada's most stable economy.

And no less important than agriculture and industry in contributing to this stability are the industries of the north; lumbering, mining, fishing and trapping.

The importance of the north is acknowledged. The continued expansion of the industries of northern Manitoba is essential to the development of our province.

A "Good Luck" Message To the Candidates:-

I wish to extend my hearty congratulations to this year's candidates for the title of Fur Queen. I am sure that each one will feel proud to represent her town in the Queen Contest for this Festival and will do her best to win the coveted title.

Being the Queen last year was a wonderful experience for me and one which enabled me to have a grand time while at The Pas, Winnipeg and Banff. The Festival Committee certainly spared no effort to provide me and my princesses with a very good time. I appreciate it very much.

My best wishes to all the candidates.

Wildlife Conservation Essay

Fishman's of The Pas is sponsoring an Essay Contest open to all school children of Northern Manitoba on the subject of Wildlife Conservation. Here is a fine opportunity for the younger generation to show their knowledge of the native northern animals and birds and to express their own ideas in regard to methods of conserving these creatures of the forest and friends of man. Prizes of $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00 will be announced at the Variety Show on Friday evening, Feb. 3rd, in the Lido Theatre.

Forest Fire Prevention Poster

Closely linked with all phases of trapping and fur-catching is the preservation of our protective forests. Every year a great deal of forest growth is destroyed by fire. This Forest Fire Prevention Poster Contest is designed to bring out original ideas of how this loss can be reduced. The contest is open to all residents of Northern Manitoba. The prizes of $25.00, $15.00, and $10.00 will be announced at the Variety Show on Friday evening, Feb. 3rd, in the Lido Theatre. All entries to be submitted to the Secretary, The Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival.

BANNOCK CONTEST

Rice's Bakery, The Pas, is sponsor for this contest which should test the skill of northern woodsman, hunters, and trappers. Bannock has been known and eaten by the rugged men and women of the north for many years and here is a grand opportunity for these hardy cooks to prove their skill. Entries will be delivered at Rice's Bakery and displayed at the Legion Hall from Thursday, Feb. 2nd to Saturday, Feb. 4th and prizes awarded. 1st—$10.00; 2nd—$5.00; 3rd—$2.50.

May blaze anew a thousandfold—
Your fire's not out until it's cold."

Itinerary of the Fur Queen and Court

On the opening day of the Trappers' Festival, the five princesses from Northern Manitoba who are candidates for the title of "Fur Queen of the North" will ride from the C.N.R. Station to the Ice Palace where the official welcome to the Town of The Pas will be extended by His Worship, Mayor H. F. Bickle. During the balance of the day a variety of entertainments and social events will be held at which the queen candidates will be honoured guests.

The Coronation Ceremony will be held at the Ice Palace at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 2nd. The distinctive note of this year's coronation will be the typical Northern costumes worn by the candidates. After the coronation five lovely parkas will be presented to the Queen and her Court. In the evening the Royal Banquets will be followed by the Queen's Ball.

Climaxing the third day's events will be the Public Reception in honour of the Queen and her Princesses.

On Monday, February 6th, the Queen and her Court will en-train for Calgary and Banff. The itinerary at Banff includes the Banff Winter Carnival from February 10th to 12th followed by two days at the famous Sunshine Ski Lodge. Prior to the Carnival, Mt. Norquay, the Hot Springs Swimming Baths, and other points of scenic interest will be visited. While at Banff, the Queen of the Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival will be a contender for the honour of being crowned Queen of the Banff Winter Carnival.

On Tuesday, February 14th, the party will commence the homeward journey, leaving behind the rugged beauty of Banff and the Rockies. Two days later they will be back in The Pas—then home with many happy memories of their tour.

CONSERVATION AWARD TO ALBERT SINCLAIR

One of the truly significant events of the Second Annual Trappers' Festival was the presentation of a Silver Tray as a Conservation Award to an outstanding Indian, Albert Sinclair of Cross Lake. The citation from the Department of Mines and Natural Resources described Mr. Sinclair as "a power for good and a leader of the finest type in his community; a Canadian of the highest type, of high integrity, anxious always to serve and with the keenest sense of duty to his fellowmen. He has been a conservationist in the best sense of the word all his life and has most effectively influenced his neighbors and his people along the lines of true conservation".

For over thirty years Albert Sinclair held the post of Fire Ranger at Cross Lake. In recent years he also served as Game Guardian and rendered outstanding service in organizing and supervising the extension of registered traplines in the Oxford House community.

In his words of thanks for the Award, Mr. Sinclair expressed the hope that "every one of our boys in the service has captured the great sustaining truth that the nobility of service well done becomes a sacred duty and an inspiration". Since he knew that he had only a few more months to live, this noble Canadian bade farewell to his assembled friends.

Albert Sinclair passed to his final reward in June, 1949.

CHURCHILL

The harbour at Fort Churchill has fully modern port facilities including a 2,500,000 bushel elevator (above) and is ready to serve the needs of both producer and consumer on the Canadian Prairies.

White whale hunting is still one of Churchill's most unusual attractions. To the sportsman, the whale hunt offers the ultimate in thrills. To the northern native a successful whaling season means food for his husky dogs all through the winter.

Churchill brings one closer to a strange and primitive people: the Eskimo. At one time these eternal wanderers of the Arctic desert went south in search of a better dwelling place, but they encountered the war-like Indians and the struggle ended for the Eskimos in total defeat and perpetual exile to the farthest north. The Indians gave them the name of Ayaesk'meow, Raw Meat-Eaters, for they well knew that in the Arctic they could find no other food than meat nor wood to kindle a fire.

Being an intelligent and energetic race, the Eskimos survived in this land of snow and ice. With whatever tools they could make out of stones and bones they managed to catch caribou, walrus and seals, polar bears and wolves which gave them food, skins for clothing, tents, boats, etc.

With an ivory knife they cut blocks of hard snow to build the dome-shaped huts they call "igloos" and thus find shelter during the long winter months.

. . . ALONG THE BAY LINE

The 510 miles of the Hudson Bay Railway not only provides the shortest outlet from the Prairie Provinces to Britain and Europe but also serves the very rich area of northern Manitoba through which it passes. This is an area of which little is yet known but which contains wealth which may be almost unlimited. This frontier land is rich in possibilities and has much to offer to the rest of Canada and the whole world.

VALUABLE ORE DEPOSITS—The prospecting that has already been done shows the presence of many ores, magnetic iron ore, copper, lead, zinc, cobalt, silver, nickel, and gold. Vihljalmar Stefansson reports outcropping of copper at Bear Lake, over an area 100 miles east by 200 miles south.

TIMBER AREAS—At various points along the Bay Line there are excellent stands of spruce timber, suitable for pulp and paper manufacturing, and enough to last for generations.

AGRICULTURE—Not only in the Carrot River Valley, west of The Pas, but also along the Bay Line, there is rich farm land. Although the growing season is short the long days make very rapid growth and excellent yields. At Mile 137 grain was seeded May 25th in rod rows, 7 inches apart, and harvested September 4th, with the following results: Garnet Wheat, 64.3 bushels per acre; Victory Oats, 118.2 bushels per acre; OAC Barley No. 21, 106.4 bushels per acre.

WILD GAME—Millions of caribou and thousands of musk-ox thrive on the grasses that grow on the mainland and on the islands of Hudson Bay. Other wild game include moose and deer. Wild fowl which have been available in abundance are ducks and geese.

FISH—The fisheries of Hudson Bay and the lakes and rivers that drain into it should, with proper conservation, prove a source of perpetual food supply, both for local use and for export. Pickerel, trout, whitefish, salmon, sturgeon, pike and tulibee abound. The whitefish of the northern waters has a flavour and firmness that cannot be excelled. White whale fishing has been a profitable venture in Hudson Bay for some years and recently has been the basis of the new industry of processing whales at Churchill.

WATER POWER—Enormous quantities of hydro power are within transmission distance of the Hudson Bay Railway. The Nelson River alone is capable of developing 2½ million horse power at ordinary minimum flow, or nearly 7 million for six months of the year. The principal water power sites are located on these rivers: Nelson, Churchill, Reindeer, Saskatchewan, Sturgeon-Weir, Grass, Burntwood, and Hayes. The physical characteristics of the Canadian Shield are exceptionally favourable for the creating and developing of a great water power resource, which will be of inestimable value in connection with mineral development and all industries of the North. To supply the Flin Flon mining area with electrical power a power plant has been built on the Churchill River at Island Falls. It is capable of developing 70,000 horse power.

FLIN FLON

Flintabatty Flonatin, a fictional character in a dime novel of 1914 has had his name adopted by the mining community "north of 54" which now has a payroll of $25,000,000 annually. With a population of nearly eleven thousand, Flin Flon awaits the completion of the million-dollar road from The Pas so that it may welcome its countless tourist friends in grand style.

Already served by regular rail and air services, Flin Flon in 1950 will be connected with southern Manitoba when the portion of Highway 10 between Cranberry Portage and Flin Flon is completed. Flin Flon is 390 air miles northwest of Winnipeg and 410 miles north of Regina and extends a hearty welcome to visitors and tourists. The peaceful grandeur of nearby Beaver Lodge offers camping facilities and log cabins which are warm and snug and set in the midst of natural wild life.

In 1926 there was no resident population, no settlement, no railway; only winter trails for trappers and prospectors on their way North. Today Flin Flon is the second largest town outside of Greater Winnipeg, a mining community rich in mineral wealth and potential, employing more than 2,500 men and mining over 5,000 tons of ore daily. vide necessary services for this community are five general stores, five hotels, four taxi services, three lunch counters, three garages, three restaurants, and three airports at nearby Channing.

Flin Flon's Community Club services are recognized as some of the finest in Canada. In the wintertime it provides 17 sheets of curling ice, 9 of them under one roof, as well as promoting hockey teams of all ages and games in the Hockey Arena, and training the young people in Figure Skating. Almost every activity or a sport of a recreational nature is made possible by the Community Club.

The educational needs of the younger generation are cared for by the numerous schools in the various districts of Flin Flon and the moral and spiritual welfare of the community is the concern of the leaders and members of the eight local churches. The ten fraternal organizations offer the citizens of Flin Flon the opportunity of fellowship and co-operation in worthy enterprises.

When the road to The Pas is completed Flin Flon will then await the completion of the second outlet by car, the road to Nipawin, Saskatchewan, of which 56 miles are already finished. With the increasing importance of the whole northern area, easy access by car from both a westerly and easterly direction is necessary.

Framed in a rugged setting of nature's own handiwork, Flin Flon is a mecca for Canadian and American tourists who annually seek the exhilaration attained only by "down to earth living". Caribou hunts, fishing, hiking, golfing, swimming, boating, or just plain walks along scenic vistas in quiet meditation, each in itself is an integral part of any vacation which will leave many rich memories.

Flin Flon is a town in which prospectors, trappers, traders, pilots and businessmen of 90 respective establishments go about their daily tasks brushing shoulders with fashionable visitors on hand to watch the drama and enjoy the excitement.

SHERRIDON

... A TOWN AND A SPIRIT

It started as a copper showing, at a time and in an area that heard of new copper finds fairly frequently and always with excitement. That was the beginning. But what was exception, out of this beginning was built an enterprise and a community. What had its beginning a quarter of a century ago has bloomed into a modern, well integrated, industrial community. This is today. A mature citizenry having the enthusiasm of youth, a settled citizenry thinking on new frontiers. Such is tomorrow. New frontiers and broader horizons offer opportunity anew to the enterprising. This is Sherridon and its spirit: building for tomorrow today.

It was in 1926, almost a quarter of a century ago, that Eldon L. Brown, as field engineer for an eastern mining syndicate, took an option on the property that has since become, and is now, Sherritt Gordon Mines. It had been discovered by prospector-trapper Carl Sherritt in 1924 when he and another prospector-trapper, Dick Madole, staked claims to cover his find. The property was originally optioned to J. P. Gordon in the summer of 1925. He in turn made arrangements with a mining company to do some work and after several months of diamond drilling they dropped out. It was after this that Mr. Brown came in and optioned the group. The work done by the syndicate he represented revealed to him that the property had exceptional potential. However the syndicate did not feel that further work was justified. It did not look promising after two mining groups had turned thumbs down. But Mr. Brown's enthusiasm and confidence in the property were not lessened. It was this enthusiasm and confidence that brought about the formation of Sherritt Gordon Mines, and which keynoted the development and growth of the enterprise and the community that grew with it.

So it was that the community was born—out of the establishment of an industry—a basic industry exploiting the metal resources of our rich, vast Northland. And the spirit that developed this industrial undertaking was injected into the building of the community. Such is Sherridon today—a town with enthusiasm and confidence. It took planning and effort to set up this modern frontier and the reward of the planning and effort is a model town.

In 1929 the railroad arrived and the same year plans were laid for providing mine employees and the public generally with a permanent modern townsite. All manner of services and facilities were provided right from the start. Everything that a town could require has been available to residents and businesses these many years. And all without municipal taxation. The cost of administration and maintenance of services is met by the industry upon which the town has been built. All this along with the natural attributes of location have provided a setting for full community living and development, and permits the continued expression of that spirit of enthusiasm and confidence that is characteristic.

It is this spirit which lifts the hearts and eyes of people to the new opportunities that lie ahead. There are still frontiers to be pushed back, new communities to be built, and all out of the natural wealth of our own Northland, where reward awaits the enterprising. So with the promise that the new Lynn Lake makes, Sherridon has its eyes to the North. Frontiers can only be pushed back by pioneers—men and women with enthusiasm and confidence. These, coupled with planning and effort, can bring about fulfilment of men's hopes. So with eyes ahead, we build for tomorrow today.

The Sherridon Kissing Chamber of Commerce offers best wishes for the success of the third annual Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival, for there is a kinship here; our spirit is yours: the spirit of the North.

THE PAS

THE HOME OF THE TRAPPERS' FESTIVAL

Ever since Henry Kelsey visited the site of The Pas on his way from York Factory to the western prairies and the two sons of La Verendrye built a trading post called Fort Paskayac at the junction of the Pasquia and Saskatchewan Rivers in 1749, The Pas has played a significant role in the life of the Canadian North. Everything that has happened at The Pas has had some definite relation to the rest of this northland and very few happenings either north or south of The Pas have been without some significance for the town. Not only have such famous names as Sir John Franklin, Sir John Richardson, and Alex. Henday, been associated with our town, but also all the prospectors, trappers, traders, and missionaries who have travelled into the far north have passed through The Pas. In the past and in the future The Pas has played and will play an important and strategic role in the affairs of province, nation, and world. John Fisher was quite correct when he termed this town "the Key to Up and Down".

In 1912, The Pas was incorporated as a town, with a population of six hundred persons and with Herman Finger as the first Mayor. The first meeting of the Town Council was held on June 20, 1912, with the Mayor, Councillors, J. E. Rusk, W. Carriere, F. J. Hogan, W. H. Bunting, J. Fleming, E. C. Senkler, Town Clerk David Clapp, Town Engineer D. Benzie, Constable J. Clark in attendance. One of the motions passed at that first meeting authorized the levying of a tax of $100 on the Uncle Tom's Cabin Shows which was showing in town at that time.

The present Mayor, H. F. Bickle, is the twelfth person to hold this high office in the 37 years of the town's history. He was preceded by Herman Finger, J. E. Rusk, W. Davis, O. H. Finger, B. M. Stitt, H. Halcrow, E. Carroll, W. Burt, P. C. Robertson, C. R. Neely and I. B. Dembinsky.

Other "firsts" in the town's history include: First magistrate, David Clapp; First Secretary-Treasurer of School Board, David Clapp; First Customs officer, Dr. H. H. Elliott; First Postmaster, R. H. Bagshaw; First Commissioner of Northern Manitoba, J. A. Campbell, K. C.

Present town officials who have served for a number of years are: J. A. Campbell, K. C., Solicitor; L. Williamson, who succeeded J. R. Symington as Secretary-Treasurer in 1937; J. Ridyard, Magistrate; and E. R. R. Mills, Assessor. The official who has served for the greatest number of years is G. A. Williams who has been the Superintendent of Utilities since his appointment in 1914.

Since 1907, when The Pas was linked to the outside world by the railway it has added a highway and a regular airline to the modes of transportation north and south. With the continuation of the highway north to Flin Flon and regular airline to Flin Flon, Sherridon, Snow Lake and Churchill, The Pas is becoming more and more in the centre of things.

Today The Pas is a modern commercial centre offering a wide range of retail business, extensive wholesale facilities, fully modern hotels, and cafes, and a large number of professional and businessmen specializing in serving the needs of the north.

Recent years have seen many improvements to the buildings of both the business and residential areas and there are indications that this trend will continue.

Altogether, the town of The Pas has had a great past and every sign points to the possibility that it will continue to expand and to play a significant role in the affairs of Manitoba and of Canada.

CRANBERRY PORTAGE

Less than two years ago a Frontier Settlement; now, since the arrival of the highway it has become a mecca for sports fishermen and is fast becoming a well established tourist resort. New businesses have sprung up almost overnight to take care of the visitor's every need. Tourist lodges and camps complete with boats and guide service stand ready to take in tourists. The town is situated in the heart of the game fish country and is on the shore of Lake Athapapuskow where the World's Record Lake Trout was caught and which also abounds with huge Northern Pike and Walleyes.

At the East end of the Portage, one mile from town is Cranberry Lake, first in a chain of lakes which one may travel by canoe through to the Hudson's Bay Line. One truly wilderness camp is situated on this lake and has boats ready at all times to transport its guests to and from the lodge.

For those of a more adventurous turn of mind there are still many an old Indian camp site, Hudson's Bay Post and North-west Trader's Post sites to be explored where with a little excavating one may perhaps find some early relics of those who made history in Canada's Northern Wilderness—the sportsman's paradise whether he be fisherman, photographer or hunter. One may really relax up here on vacation.

The Proper Atmosphere

... is absolutely essential for such an activity as the Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival. The mayor and the councillors of the Town of The Pas have again co-operated in providing the appropriate atmosphere by decorating the streets of our town in a gay and festive manner. The Festival Committee greatly appreciates this decorative evidence of wholehearted support.

Registered Traplines

The story of Registered Traplines, or simply R.T.L. as it is now known throughout the northland, is a tale of great achievement brought about by close co-operation between the government and the fur industry of Manitoba as represented by the trappers.

Basically, Registered Traplines is a system which is designed to eliminate the previous destructive competition among trappers by introducing planned fur harvesting. The system says, in effect, "Trappers should not be allowed to trap just anywhere. Instead each trapper should have his own specific area where no one else may trap". For years the trappers themselves had realized that it was wrong to take the last pair of beaver from a "house" but they knew that, if they didn't someone else would because "First there, first served" had been the law of the line.

When it had been decided to try to overcome the loss of fur by granting exclusive use of trapping grounds to individual trappers the fur administrators were immediately faced with the problem of defining areas for each trapper. This problem was solved when someone suggested that districts could be easily defined for a group of trappers each of whom would have to have a permit to trap within that boundaried area.

The matter of defining the individual traplines within a district was left to the trappers themselves. Meetings were held at which the plan was explained to the trappers and they were asked to state where their traplines were. At first there were numerous arguments and conflicting claims but finally the trappers agreed to accept certain definite locations for their lines. Soon each trapper came to know and respect his neighbor's line and any dispute that arose later was settled by the game guardian to the satisfaction of both parties.

In return for the benefits he derived from the Registered Traplines the trapper was called upon to practise sound fur conservation. He has to improve his area by making it more liveable for the furbearing animals on which his livelihood depends. Experience has shown that the trapper has been more than willing to co-operate in this regard because he realized that conservation is profitable.

The adjoining communities of Thicket Portage and Pikwitonei, 200 miles north of The Pas on the Hudson Bay Railway, were crowded out with jubilant trappers when plans were announced to register the first traplines in 1940. Within a few months 66 lines were registered. By 1943 registration was complete at such widely separated places as Wabowden, Herb Lake, Cormorant, Cranberry Portage, Flin Flon, Sheridan and Ilford. By 1944, registered traplines were an accepted and proven project. A Herb Lake magistrate said of the plan, "It is the salvation of this North country".

In 1944 the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, which was already co-operating in the work of muskrat rehabilitation and was always on the lookout for means by which the economic condition of the Indian might be improved, sent out their fur supervisor at the invitation of the Province to make a joint survey of northern Manitoba. After several meetings were held and a full survey made, a Dominion-Provincial agreement was signed by which both governments agreed to develop the Registered Traplines scheme to include all the hunting Indians of the Province, as well as the few remaining white trappers. Progress was being made in the North. The experiment has succeeded.

Statistical proof of the success of the Registered Traplines plan of conservation and planned fur harvesting is seen in recent figures released by the Department of Mines and Natural Resources, Winnipeg. In the first trapline district of the north there was a total of 3,280 beaver in the season 1942-43, of which 1,000 were harvested. In the season of 1948-49, the total number of beaver in the same district was 19,416, of which 4,500 were harvested. Thus it can be readily seen that this new plan of conservation and trapping made it possible for the trappers of this one district to sell over 1,000 beaver more than the total number that existed in the same area six years before.

Recruiting and training of staff to carry out the programme of the new plan is an important and somewhat difficult task. It takes men with considerable experience and a love of the North country, who are willing to face the hardships of a life of comparative isolation, to effectively carry out this programme. The Manitoba Government Air Service has been a great aid in the Registered Traplines plan as the Air Service is used extensively for transporting supplies, equipping stations, checking trapline areas, and transplanting beaver from one area to another. In the original organizing period alone, the Air Service flew 10,000 miles on Registered Trapline business.

As a result of the foresight of the men who first worked out the broad outlines and then filled in the details of the Registered Traplines scheme, Manitoba now has a new industry throughout the North composed of thousands of wildlife fur farms operated on a planned basis by men who are experts in fur management. This project is a living proof that co-operation and conservation really pay.

Trappers' Festival 1980

After two weeks of races, sports, displays, and concerts, the Thirty-third Annual Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival came to an end with a gigantic display of fireworks which were set off before a crowd of over 100,000 people who lined the banks of the Saskatchewan River. Visitors from all over Canada and the United States have now started for their homes acknowledging that this Festival has become one of the outstanding winter events of the North American continent.

The Canadian Championship Dog Race is still one of the main features of the Festival. This year saw many entries from outside Canada and competition among the 48 teams was very keen. However, our own Emil Lambert showed that the best of dogs and drivers are still to be found in northern Manitoba.

A new feature of this year's Festival was the Jet-Plane Race from The Pas to the North Pole and return. Bob Law was stationed at the North Pole to make sure each plane made the full trip. The race came to a thrilling end with the planes from United States and France screeching over the town at the very same moment. Two of the contestants from Asia arrived at the North Pole a bit late and kept on going instead of turning around. Remembering what his father had told him about spending most of one night in a bombardier around Cranberry Portage in search of a dog team away back in 1949, Bob commented, "I'd certainly hate to have to start looking for one of those jets".

Festival president, Gordon Walkinshaw, stated that he felt that this year's programme had been very successful and that he had already received several suggestions by which the Thirty-fourth could be bigger and better. The treasurer, Kent Morgan, hasn't the final tally of all monies received and expended yet but is confident there will be at least a small profit.

The interest in the Queen Contest proved to be the greatest ever. With every one of the twenty-four cities and towns "North of 53" sponsoring a candidate and an Indian "Princess" from each of the three agencies of the north, the judges from New York had a great deal of difficulty choosing the Fur Queen of the North.

One of the happiest features of this year's Festival was the appearance of the original president, Harry Fishman, who flew up from Florida where he is living in retirement. When one of the newspapermen asked him if he minded the cold, Mr. Fishman replied, "I sure do but I'd put up with more than that to be able to be in The Pas for the Trappers' Festival."

Oldtimers recalled that the Trappers' Festival began with a three-day programme of races and sports in 1948. Now it occupies two whole weeks. Of course our city was quite a small town then and many of our residents maintain that one reason for its rapid growth has been all the favorable publicity which the annual Festivals have brought to it.

"The Ice Worms"

FESTIVAL THEME SONG

In the land of the pale blue snow
Where it's ninety-nine below
And the polar bears are roaming o'er the plain
In the shadows of the pole,
I will clasp her to my soul
We'll be happy when the Ice Worms nest again.

There's a husky, dusky maiden in the Artic
In her igloo she's waiting there in vain.
O, I guess I'll put my mukluks on and ask her,
If she'll wed me when the ice worms nest again.

CHORUS

O the wedding feast will be seal-oil and blubber
In our kayaks we'll roam the boundless main
How the walruses will turn their necks to rubber
We'll be happy when the ice worms nest again.

CHORUS

And when all the blinkin' icebergs bound around us
She'll present me with a bouncing baby boy
All the polar bears will dance a rhumba 'round us
And the walruses will click their teeth with joy.

CHORUS (Louder please)
